Origin of the McCune Collection

The McCune Collection of Rare Books & Art is the legacy of longtime Vallejo resident and physician, Dr. Donovan McCune, who was born and raised in Ohio. After graduating from Georgetown University, he obtained his medical degree from Johns Hopkins. Dr. McCune's professional career spanned numerous positions as a pediatrician in New York, New Jersey, Ohio and Connecticut. In 1951, he moved to California to work for Kaiser Permanente Hospital in Vallejo, where he served as Chief of Pediatrics and also staff assistant to the Executive Director of the Kaiser Permanente Group.

Dr. McCune had four passions in life: public speaking, the study of Latin, a love of books, and a compelling interest in how books were produced. These passions are reflected in the items that Dr. McCune collected. He collected books on California history, Latin, the printing arts (e.g. typography, printing, book design, and binding) and fine printing by notable private presses. He purchased an Albion Hand Press (manufactured in London in 1852) so that he could try his hand at fine printing. Additionally, he both gave and attended lectures on book making and the printing process.

Dr. McCune was appointed to the Vallejo Library Advisory Board (VLAB) in 1961, serving on it for two five-year terms. In 1967, during his second term on the Board, he began to donate portions of his collection to the City of Vallejo. These donations continued throughout his second term and were graciously accepted by Vallejo through its City Council. In 1969 a room expressly designed to house the collection in the John F. Kennedy Library was named for Dr. Donovan J. McCune. Several months aft er the library officially opened in 1970, Dr. McCune had a stroke which affected him until his death in 1976.

As Dr. McCune left no funds to maintain the collection, the City of Vallejo was tasked with finding a way to provide for its preservation. Consequently, a portion of the collection was auctioned in 1986 to establish a McCune Endowment Fund to maintain the collection. Interest from this fund is exclusively used for the operating expenses of the collection.

In 1987 the City of Vallejo amended its municipal code in order to form the McCune Endowment Committee as a subcommittee of the Vallejo Library Advisory Board (VLAB). In 2016 the Vallejo City Council abolished VLAB and concurrently elevated the former McCune Committee to the status of a full City commission called the McCune Collection Commission. Its 7 Council-appointed commissioners are charged with protecting, maintaining and enhancing the collection as well as making it available to the public

Report from the McCune Collection Commission Chair

The McCune Collection Commission welcomes our newest Commissioner, Peter Handel. Peter brings engagement with the community and skills in publicity and communications to the Commission and we are eager to use his talents and commitment to coordinate and enhance our messaging.

The McCune is embarked on an ambitious scheduling experiment moving from six annual programs in the fall and spring to a full twelve, one event for every month. So far, all our events have been well attended. We encourage our patrons to support our efforts to promote literacy and fellowship in our community by checking the schedule and attending any program that captures your imagination.

This year began with the display of volumes returned to useful condition by careful restoration. These accomplishments have been followed up by cataloging projects that will help make the collection more easily accessible and assist us in sharing the wonders of one of Vallejo's great treasures with academics and residents alike.

A book club has been added to the Collections activities, joining the program series, our Artwalk destination participation, and Writing Workshop as a way to bring people to the collection and see its items used and glories appreciated.

It remains the goal of the Chair to see the press in use, and we will be working with the city in the coming year to achieve this.
